(FC 3 hr) Can We Talk? Improving Communication Skills

This three-hour class will assist parents in communicating with each other, their caseworkers, and their children. In this workshop, we will explore the various learning styles and how they translate into diverse communication styles. By comparing and contrasting the various types of communication, we will learn how to understand those around us, and how to make sure we are understood. Using different types of communication interactions, including effective feedback, we will teach others to be good communicators, as well.

This workshop is CSWMFT Board approved for Social Work and Counselor CEUs.
